

Reflection

Team members:

Pop David-Alexandru

Reitler Alex

Sali Arnold

Description:

The three of us agreed to meet on a Teams meeting at 12 o'clock on Wednesday. This went smoothly and everyone was on time, as we knew each other from doing the seminary assignments together. David wrote the code, Alex the documentation and Arnold the test cases.

Feelings:

We all felt strange as this is a new situation, we never before had take-home assignments for an exam. Otherwise everyone was feeling good, we were joking throughout the work, no one felt frustrated or had other negative feelings.

Evaluation:

Mostly things went well. What didn't go well was that we had some misunderstandings between the tests and the documentation.

Analysis:

Work went mostly well because we were already used to working together. More planning on the test cases could have made things go smoother.

Conclusions:

We learned that we need to work together more closely and plan ahead a little better.

Action plan:

We need better communication skills. To develop this skill we need to try to communicate more with team members.
